

Love, ____ Features

To create a community connection with the Love, Orangeville brand, we regularly ask local business owners, volunteers, artists, and community members to share why they love Orangeville. Their photos and comments are posted on social media and included in our monthly e-newsletter. Some features aim to showcase local businesses while others highlight upcoming events and festivals. All participants are eager to share their love of Orangeville. Included here are a few examples of content that has been featured since the brand launched in January.

Love,

Meet Christina Trumble

Restaurant Manager at Le Finis, A Sweet Finish by Lavender Blue Catering

I love Orangeville because of the true sense of community here. The fun events we have like the Blues and Jazz Festival & Celebrate Your Awesome make me proud to live here. They allow me to make genuine connections with wonderful neighbours and also the guests that visit us from afar for these events.

Love,

Meet Emily Gilbert

Singer and Songwriter

I love Orangeville because it is a welcoming community that loves to support local arts. While living here, I have grown so much as a musician. I credit the launch of my career to the local venues and community members that have hired and supported me throughout my journey as an artist.

Meet Emilia Perri

Artist, Instructor and Business Owner at Maggiolly Art Supplies

I love Orangeville because it's a small town with a big presence. Artists of all kinds gather here – there is art and live music all around. Creativity abounds in Orangeville and that makes all the difference to someone like me.

Meet Nicole Hannan

Floral Designer at Suzanne Gardner Flowers

I love Orangeville's small-town hospitality. I am grateful to work in a community where there are so many people who share their love and passion with customers and visitors. The downtown core has so many successful businesses, many run by female entrepreneurs. It creates such a welcoming and supportive vibe. It really is amazing!

Meet Laura Pippy

Manager at Foxy Face

I love Orangeville for the hidden gems. You honestly never know what's hiding around a corner here! Even a simple stroll down Broadway is exciting. All the small businesses offer such unique experiences, the restaurants are amazing, and the aesthetics of the store fronts and landscaping make the whole downtown a beautiful destination.

Meet Mark Latkolik

Owner of Revival 1863

I love Orangeville because of the people. There is an “everyone-knows-everyone” feeling, and the level of community support is unmatched! The restaurants, the parks, the theatre, and the community are all just incredible!

Meet Christina Clare

Artist and Volunteer

When artist Christina Clare moved to Orangeville from Toronto, she was thrilled to discover the Orangeville Blues & Jazz Festival. "I love music festivals, so I was delighted to find this world-class event right here in my new small town. It is a unique opportunity to hear top-rated Canadian artists play alongside an incredible line-up of local bands."

Meet Alex Larivee (He/Him)

Volunteer for the Celebrate Your Awesome Event Committee

Alexander is the newest member of the Celebrate Your Awesome Committee. As a trans man who has lived in Orangeville most of his life, the annual event is important to him and provides a unique opportunity to promote pride and diversity in his own community. "Celebrate Your Awesome enables me, and many others, to feel proud of who we are. It cultivates a warm, accepting environment and ensures that everyone can feel seen and safe. The event gets so much support from the community and really showcases all of the love in our town."
